PRESENTER BIOGRAPHIES:

Sue Malinowski, MS
Director of Education
Saratoga Hospital, Saratoga, NY

Sue has served as Director of Education at two hospitals for over the past 13 years. She has been a member of UNYNSDO since 1998. During her tenure, she has gained extensive experience in the principles of adult education and has become very familiar with the role of clinical educators as leaders and has personally mentored staff educators toward expanding their roles. She is also the founder of the Saratoga Hospital and Siena College Healthcare Leadership Institute in which she has designed and developed curriculum and provides instruction in conjunction with faculty of the Siena College School of Management.

Michele Champigny, MS
Director of Educational Resources and Development
Seton Health, Troy, NY

Michele has been an educator and has been providing formal presentations for the past 12 years. With her educational background and experience in her role as Director of Educational Resources and Development, she designs educational programming and provides presentations on a regular basis. Her educational background has also provided her with expertise in the principles of adult learning, program development, and preparation and delivery of educational presentations.

Barbara Wisnom, MSN, RN, CPCC, PCC
Executive Coach, Meeting Facilitator & Trainer
The Third Zone, Irvine, CA

Barbara is an executive and business coach, organizational development consultant, trainer and facilitator. She brings over 25 years of management experience to her work. She holds certifications from the Coaches Training Institute and the International Coach Federation. Prior to starting her coaching career, she was an Assistant Director of Nursing at Sisters of Charity Hospital in Buffalo, NY. She then served for seven years as vice-president for a NY based medical malpractice insurance company. Barbara has been speaking publicly and offering seminars to a wide variety of audiences for a number of years. She has utilized her many years of leadership and training experience to coach leaders in the business and non-profit arena, and to design workshops and seminars geared toward assisting leaders in developing and refining their skills.
